PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The programme is studied over three years and there are three terms each year: Michaelmas (autumn), Hilary (spring) and Trinity (summer). Michaelmas and Hilary terms are twelve weeks long and Trinity term is eight weeks long.

Michaelmas and Hilary terms each consists of twelve weeks of intensive study for the degree programme. They incorporate a Reading Week, generally taken in the seventh week of each term, where there are no formal teaching sessions. In the twelfth week of each term Collections are held, these being individual meetings between the student and their tutors to review the student's performance over the term.

Trinity term consists of revision, informally and through formal sessions, followed by examinations.

In the Law Major, most of the courses that students will study focus on those areas required for qualification. Starting with the core areas of contracts, torts, and the English Legal System, students will learn not only what the law is, but also the theory behind it. As skills develop, students will move on to more specialised study. Throughout, there is an emphasis on developing the formal and informal skills that distinguish a good lawyer: technical ability, and the communicative and collaborative skills essential to successful interactions with colleagues, with clients, with opposing counsel, and, sometimes, in court. Each course on the programme seeks to develop core knowledge and interpretive skills required for the successful provision of legal advice, are keystones in any legal education, and form a strong foundation for future study.

The English Minor gives students the opportunity to engage deeply with literary texts from a range of periods. In the first year, they study Criticism, which teaches how to read literature both through close attention to literary detail, and through theoretical perspectives. In the second year, students take the course 'Shakespeare and his Afterlives', which first studies a number of Shakespeare plays in detail, before considering the cultural reception of Shakespeare across art forms and around the world from 1660 to the present. In the third year students can choose to study either 'Cultures of London', which explores the wide range of London's cultures across time, or 'Comparative Literature', which explores theory and practice of comparison between literatures of different times, places and languages, and between different art forms.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

AGE

An applicant must normally be at least 17 years of age at the time of registration, and keeping in line with the College's policy, normally turn 18 before 31 December of that academic year.

GENERAL ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The College reviews application forms, grades, personal statements, references, and interview performance, before making offers of places in its programmes. A typical offer for undergraduate study is AAB at A-level, 35 points or 6,6,5 in HL subjects in the IB Diploma, or the equivalent. Provisional admissions decisions are made by the Head of the Faculty of Law and/or Faculty of Law Admissions Officer.

SPECIFIC ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Law Major: None

English Minor: None

¹ The courses that run in each academic year are subject to change in line with faculty availability and student demand so there is no guarantee every course will be delivered. For further information, please speak to the Head of Faculty.

² A law dissertation will normally only be permitted in a subject already studied by the student in their first or second years. A student taking a dissertation will be assigned a supervisor, who will give guidance to and review the student's work. In order to ensure academic integrity, this guidance and support will be limited, so the student must therefore have demonstrated sufficient academic ability and self-reliance to undertake the dissertation. This test is normally satisfied by the student having attained a mark of 52% or higher in the course relating to the dissertation. A student who did not attain that mark may nevertheless be deemed suitable if there has been a marked increase in overall performance between the first and second years of study. The decisions on whether a student has met the pre-requisites for a dissertation and which of their proposed dissertation titles is acceptable will be made by the Head of Faculty, in consultation with the dissertation course leader, if different.

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Where a student wishes to apply for the recognition of prior learning on the basis of certificated or experiential learning, they should follow the College's Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer Policy.

AIMS OF THE PROGRAMME

The aims of the major (Law) part of the programme are to:

- Enable students to be awarded with a Qualifying Law Degree which acts as a qualification for those wishing to progress to the vocational and professional stages of training to become solicitors or barristers in England and Wales. Moreover, it aims to prepare students for the transition to the SQE and prepare them for it, to the extent that its courses overlap with the subject-matter under examination.
- Provide a thematic basis to academic legal studies which aligns to career paths which are attractive to alumni of the College, in particular careers in which knowledge and understanding of corporate, commercial and employment matters are valuable.
- Provide legal knowledge and skills in areas which align with the College's LAUNCH programme in developing entrepreneurial abilities.
- Prepare students for further study on postgraduate courses, whether academic (doctoral, masters or other), vocational or professional.
- Provide a teaching and learning environment which achieves the above aims by enabling students to demonstrate the learning outcomes below.

The aim of the minor (English) part of the programme is to:

- Help students become more knowledgeable and penetrating interpreters of verbal art – principally verbal art originally written in English.
- Bring rigour to students' thinking, and advance their power of engagement with both literary texts and the issues with which they engage.

The overall aim of the programme is to:

- Provide a teaching and learning environment which achieves the above aims by enabling students to demonstrate the learning outcomes below.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

The faculty make use of various teaching and learning strategies to provoke interest, knowledge and skills in the courses being delivered.

The delivery methods are:

- Tutorials (based on essays submitted by the student, with written and/or oral feedback on their progress)
- Seminars for small group discussion
- Lectures
- Informal discussion groups (including online discussion)
- Consolidation and revision sessions
- Examinations and examiners' reports
- Independent study and research

The style of teaching at the College exposes students to lectures that capture their interest and excite their curiosity. These lectures are designed to allow interactivity and a short time of discussion and questioning (throughout or at the end of each lecture, as appropriate).

Tutorials and group seminar sessions enable unparalleled focus on the individual student, prompt and encourage independent reading and research, and facilitate lively, structured discussion. Students receive detailed feedback, written and/or verbal, on their formative assignments, and ideas and arguments are approached from new angles and in new contexts to enable the consolidation and review of material.

The programme is designed to progress steadily over three years and develop students' conceptual sophistication through cumulative experience and knowledge. If taken, the third-year dissertation course will allow students to develop their thinking in collaboration with a supervisor.

RESOURCES

The students experience and study is supported by the College's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), where students can preview and download course descriptors, lecture handouts, reading lists and supplementary materials. Students also have access to Senate House Library and online research resources, such as JStore, Jisc, Westlaw and Lexis Library.

Sample and/or past examination papers, as well as examiners' reports, are available to help students understand what is expected of them.

RESEARCH

The faculty aims to provide a lively, open, and interactive teaching environment, in which research and teaching are complementary. The faculty appreciates the breadth of knowledge that students must achieve, particularly in the Foundations of Legal Knowledge subjects but, where the syllabus allows for it, teaching is allocated in line with research interests and expertise and the faculty facilitates a wide range of academic and social events in which academics and students are brought together.

Students are taught research and digital literacy skills in two main ways:

- a) In Michaelmas term of the first-year students are introduced, in the English Legal System course, to the sources of English Law and how those sources are accessed. Specific attention is paid to the Westlaw and Lexis Library databases. Students are shown how to access those databases and are encouraged to use facilities of the databases themselves to expand their knowledge of them and their capabilities. Students are also shown how to reference legal sources through use of OSCOLA.
- b) Subject librarians at Senate House Library give College students inductions on the use of the Senate House Library catalogue, other library catalogues, and other electronic resources relevant to the study of Law. Students need to know how to analyse their research topic when planning a literature and/or case search, identifying appropriate keywords, and alternative possibilities. They will be made aware of library databases that they can use to search for academic journal articles (such as JSTOR) and know how to use these databases effectively to find articles relating to their chosen keywords. Following their search, it will be necessary to evaluate the results and the quality and relevance of the articles critically. They will be made aware of the availability and value of other physical and online research tools. Students should also know how to access the online and in-person support available to them in this area, via Senate House Library.

ASSESSMENT REGULATIONS

STUDENT SUPPORT

DISABILITIES AND/OR SPECIFIC LEARNING DIFFICULTIES (SPLDS)

Students are asked to complete a Medical Disclosure Form, where they can list any medical conditions, disabilities and/or SpLDs and give consent to who can have access to this information. More information can be found here. This data is managed and securely stored by the Student Wellbeing Team (SWT). During Freshers' Week, a number of talks and events are held which are designed to support and inform students with regard to mental health, disabilities, safety and learning support.

The SWT meets with students soon after Freshers' Week to discuss their needs and help set up support systems both within the College (if appropriate) and externally. If requested by the student, the SWT will then arrange to meet with relevant faculty to discuss the student's needs and the ways these might impact on their studies. If students request specific arrangements (for e.g. submission extensions, use of a laptop, special exam conditions, etc.) they are asked to submit approved medical documentation.

If a student is undiagnosed but believes they may have a SpLD (e.g. Dyslexia) the SWT will help them to access assessment centres. If the assessment confirms a SpLD, the SWT will discuss further support options with the student and their tutors. The SWT is in contact with local dyslexia tutors for advice or student referral. The College can help provide students with special learning equipment (e.g. coloured paper, reading pens, dictation software, etc.).

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS

The employability skills that law students develop through the NCH Law curriculum are, inter alia, the following:

- Preparing students to be solicitors or barristers or working as in-house lawyers.
- Communication and advocacy skills (e.g. mock trials in the Legal Research and Advocacy course).
- Presentation skills and delivering presentations (incl. teamwork).
- Due diligence and fact-checking.
- Legal essay writing and proof-reading.
- Legal research skills (incl. online legal databases Westlaw and LexisNexis).
- Current affairs and commercial awareness (e.g. in the context of the Public Law course, real life examples on the legality of the exercise of the royal prerogative, for instance the attempt of the British Government in September 2019 to prorogue Parliament and its subsequent defeat before the UK Supreme Court).
- Understanding and practical knowledge of the English court system: attending trials and hearings (criminal and civil).

CAREERS EDUCATION, INFORMATION AND GUIDANCE

The College runs LAUNCH, which represents part of the NCH Diploma and has been designed in collaboration with a large number of experts from different types of industries. This has been designed to develop the attitudes, behaviours and capabilities that will prepare students for the world of work. It consists of two substantial projects, where students are required to work in teams to address real world assignments, and weekly seminars covering working in teams, marketing, writing and presenting, working in teams, and other transferable skills applicable to any professional activity.

College Careers Advisers help students to identify their career goals and create individual career plans. Students are actively encouraged to seek internships, with guidance given throughout the application process.

QUALITY EVALUATION AND ENHANCEMENT

AWARD STANDARDS

Every programme of study is developed by the Faculties, utilising their subject specialists and approved by the College's Academic Board.

REVIEW AND EVALUATION MECHANISMS

The College has robust procedures, as described in AQF4 Programme and Course Approval and Modifications and AQF5 Annual Monitoring and Reporting, in place to assure the quality of the programme development, delivery, and management, alongside systematic monitoring, ongoing review and enhancement of all College programmes. Enhancements are made as necessary to ensure that systems remain effective and rigorous.
