The role

New College of Humanities at Northeastern wishes to appoint an Assistant Professor (Teaching & Scholarship) in Psychology.

We wish to appoint specialists in any area of Psychology. The appointee will be flexible, able, and willing to be wide-ranging in their teaching and in their professional development. Preference may be given to candidates with active interests in the relationship of Psychology to one or more of the following areas: software and/or technology; employment contexts; diversity and inclusion.

Core duties will include teaching across a sufficiently wide range of areas as to enable the institution to deliver its minor in Psychology, as well as wider educational and administrative duties. The appointee will be flexible, able, and willing to be wide-ranging in their teaching and in their professional development. The appointee will be expected to contribute to the continuing establishment and development of Psychology as an academic field within the institution, and to do so in interdisciplinary collaboration with other academic fields.

We particularly encourage applications from those with an interest in innovative teaching, learning and assessment; those with experience of supporting a wide variety of students; and those belonging to groups underrepresented in UK higher education. We are open to appointing on a reduced fraction/job-share basis subject to our business needs.

About the College

Founded in 2012, with the aim of providing the highest quality of education in the humanities and social sciences, New College of the Humanities at Northeastern has established itself as a prestigious higher education institution based in the heart of London. We offer a unique and broad liberal arts-inspired curriculum with highly personalised teaching, including our gold-standard tutorial system. The College is undergoing an exciting period of growth, having become part of Northeastern University's global network in early 2019.

Enquiries
