PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The English Major combines the broad historical coverage of traditional English degrees with distinctive features reflecting the College's liberal arts tradition. These include the study of rhetoric, genre, and literary theories ranging from Marxism to vegan criticism. Students are taught how to compare literatures in English, literatures in different languages, and different art forms. The major is rigorous both in its disciplinarity and its interdisciplinarity, and aims to prepare students to read not only the texts which we call literature, but all other uses of language, with greater acuity, penetration, and pleasure, for the rest of their lives.

In the Philosophy minor, students investigate fundamental questions with some of the most searching, creative and influential thinkers of the past two-and-a-half thousand years. How do appearance and reality differ? What is justice? What is beauty? How are mind and world related? Can we achieve knowledge? In addressing these questions students are asked to analyse and assess the ideas and arguments of others, and to formulate and defend their own. The study of philosophy demands rigour and imagination, and the courses are designed to help students develop clarity, depth, and independence of thought.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

AGE

An applicant must normally be at least 17 years of age at the time of registration, and keeping in line with the College's policy, normally turn 18 before 31 December of that academic year.

GENERAL ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The College reviews application forms, grades, personal statements, references, and interview performance, before making offers of places in its programmes. A typical offer for undergraduate study is AAB at A-level, 35 points overall or 6,6,5 in Higher Level subjects (with an overall pass) in the IB Diploma, or the equivalent. Provisional admissions decisions are made by the Admissions Tutor of the Faculty of the major subject for which the student has applied. If English is not an applicant's native language, they will need to demonstrate proficiency in English in order to study at the College. For a list of equivalencies, please check here.

SPECIFIC ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

English Major: None

Philosophy Minor: None

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Where a student wishes to apply for the recognition of prior learning on the basis of certificated or experiential learning, they should follow the College's Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer Policy.

AIMS OF THE PROGRAMME

The aims of the major (English) part of the programme are to:

- Allow the student to become a more knowledgeable and penetrating interpreter of art – principally verbal art originally written in English.
- Give the student an understanding of the relationship between art and life; how literature develops over time; and how literature is produced by, reflects on, and alters, non-literary reality.
- Develop the student's independence and rigour of thought.

The aim of the minor (Philosophy) part of the programme is to:

- Cultivate an engaged appreciation of some of the central questions of philosophy, and foster extensive knowledge and understanding of the ideas and arguments of major figures in the history of philosophy, and the challenges these face.
- Bring clarity, depth, and rigour to students' thinking and to advance their understanding of, and ability to engage with, central questions, arguments, theories, and texts concerning the world and our place within it. The discipline develops students' ability to give clear analyses of complex position, enables students to identify and apply key philosophical concepts, theories, and arguments in unfamiliar contexts, and develops students' powers of critical thinking.
- Develop students' intellectual curiosity, self-awareness, and initiative; improve students' ability to organise and present ideas clearly, independently and persuasively; and foster an ability to anticipate and accommodate change, and negotiate contexts of ambiguity, uncertainty and unfamiliarity.

The overall aim of the programme is to:

- Provide a teaching and learning environment which achieves the above aims by enabling students to demonstrate the learning outcomes below.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

The faculty make use of various teaching and learning strategies to provoke interest, knowledge and skills in the courses being delivered.

The delivery methods are:

- 1:1 tutorials (based on essays submitted by the student, with written and/or oral feedback on their progress)
- Group tutorials for presentations and discussion
- Lectures
- Revision session
- Examinations and examiners' reports
- Independent study and research
- Creative writing workshops

The style of teaching at the College exposes students to lectures that capture their interest and excite their curiosity. These lectures are designed to allow interactivity and a short time of discussion and questioning (throughout or at the end of each lecture, as appropriate).

Tutorials and group seminar sessions enable unparalleled focus on the individual student, prompt and encourage independent reading and research, and facilitate lively, structured discussion. Students receive detailed feedback, written and/or verbal, on their formative assignments, and ideas and arguments are approached from new angles and in new contexts to enable the consolidation and review of material.

The programme is designed to progress steadily over three years and develop students' conceptual sophistication through cumulative experience and knowledge. The third-year dissertation course will allow students to develop their thinking in collaboration with a supervisor.

RESOURCES

The student experience and study is supported by the College's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), where students can preview and download course descriptors, lecture handouts, reading lists, supplementary materials as well as interact with the course teachers and peers. Coursework and summative tasks are also submitted via this platform.

Students have access to Northeastern University Library digital resources and online academic resources, such as JSTOR and the OED. Students at the College can apply for membership of Senate House Library, the British Library and the City of London libraries. Sample and/or past examination papers, as well as examiners' reports, are available to help students understand what is expected of them.

RESEARCH

Faculty aim to provide a lively, open, and interactive teaching environment, in which research and teaching are complementary. Faculty appreciate the breadth of knowledge that students must achieve, where the syllabus allows for it, teaching is allocated in line with research interests and expertise and faculty facilitate a wide range of academic and social events in which students and faculty are brought together.

Students are taught research and digital literacy skills in two main ways:

- a) At the beginning of the programme, students are inducted on the use of the Northeastern University online library and other electronic resources relevant to the programme.
- b) Once students have had some experience of writing essays, and have acquired the appetite to improve their research skills), first-year students receive College-wide and subject-specific briefings on basic digital literacy and research skills. These briefings are given as lectures, and are reinforced by summary documentation made available on the VLE.[1]

Research skills are can be addressed through the one-to-one tutorials and Faculty Office Hours, and advance through discussions of how to approach essays throughout their courses during each year of their degree.

In addition, research skills particular to the writing of dissertations are taught in the lectures and tutorials for Comparative Literature.

STUDENT SUPPORT

DISABILITIES AND/OR SPECIFIC LEARNING DIFFICULTIES (SPLDS)

Students are strongly encouraged to inform the College of any medical conditions, disabilities, specific learning difficulties (SpLD) or neurological differences as soon as is practical. Students will be asked to submit supporting documentation from a doctor, clinical or educational psychologist detailing the nature of their disability and the impact it is likely to have on their studies in order to help us put in place appropriate support and accommodations. More information can be found in the Student Disability Policy here. This data is managed and securely stored by Student Support and Development (SSD). During Freshers' week, a number of talks and events are held which are designed to support and inform students with regard to mental health, disabilities, safety and learning support.

SSD meet with students as soon as possible, and preferably before the start of the academic year, to discuss their needs and draft a Learning Support Plan (LSP) which outlines the support to be provided both within the College (if appropriate) and externally. If requested by the student, the SDD will then arrange to inform relevant faculty of the student's needs and any reasonable adjustments required.

If a student is undiagnosed but believes they may have a SpLDS (e.g. Dyslexia) the SDD will help them to access diagnostic services. If the assessment confirms a SpLDS, the SDD will work the student in preparing a LSP and will provide advice about accessing additional funding and support through the Disabled Students Allowance, where a student may be eligible.

QUALITY EVALUATION AND ENHANCEMENT

AWARD STANDARDS

Every programme of study is developed by the Faculties, utilising their subject specialists and approved by the College's Academic Board.

REVIEW AND EVALUATION MECHANISMS

The College has robust procedures, as described in AQF4 Programme and Course Approval and Modifications and AQF5 Annual Monitoring and Reporting, in place to assure the quality of the programme development, delivery, and management, alongside systematic monitoring, ongoing review and enhancement of all College programmes. Enhancements are made as necessary to ensure that systems remain effective and rigorous.

The College utilises constructive feedback from a variety of sources, internal and external, to inform its decision-making process to enhance the programme and the student experience. These feedback sources are:

- Annual Course Reviews, written by the Course Leader, are prepared to enable the Course Leader to reflect on the course, using a variety of data and student/faculty feedback to enhance the course and support the Head of Faculty in writing the Annual Faculty Review.
- Annual Faculty Reviews, written by the Head of Faculty, are prepared in order to enhance individual programmes and to plan ahead.
- Annual External Examiner Reports are prepared by independent External Examiners, as appointed by the College, to confirm that a programme has been assessed in accordance with the approved documentation and that the student performance meets the appropriate academic standards.

- Formal student feedback mechanisms consist of course questionnaires, Student-Staff Liaison Committee and annual student satisfaction surveys, including external independent survey, such the National Student Survey.
- Informal student feedback is also valued by the College and this can take the form of students talking to their tutors, Head of Faculty or professional staff. Students may also raise matters with their Personal Tutor.
