PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The Art History major will allow students to explore the art of several centuries across a wide geographical span. It will look at traditional areas such as the Italian Renaissance, French Modernist paintings and Western architecture after 1851; and provides the opportunity to engage in depth with Byzantine, Islamic and North American material culture. This Art History programme will not only critically examine works of art produced in different regions at different times, but will also make visible the various theoretical and methodological frameworks – as well as blind spots – that shape interpretation and guide the appreciation of art and culture. Studying Art History is not just a way of coming to terms with our past artistic legacies, it is a way of actively preparing for the future.

The study of Politics and International Relations as a minor comprises political theory, which examines normative questions, ideas, and ideology, and includes courses on International Relations: Theory and Practice (L4); political science, which examines the organisation of government and society and includes a course on Old Powers, New Powers, Imperialism, Colonialism and the Modern State (L5); and international relations, which focuses on anarchy, security, economy, globalisation, and the conflictual and cooperative engagement between states and includes a course on International Organisations: Global and Local (L6). Political theory cuts across both political science and international relations and ensures that minor students receive a cohesive and structured provision in the discipline of Politics and International Relations, with opportunities to touch on its many rich components.

An applicant must normally be at least 17 years of age at the time of registration, and keeping in line with the College's policy, normally turn 18 before 31 December of that academic year.

GENERAL ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The College reviews application forms, grades, personal statements, references, and interview performance, before making offers of places in its programmes. A typical offer for undergraduate study is AAB at A-level, 35 points overall or 6,6,5 in Higher Level subjects (with an overall pass) in the IB Diploma, or the equivalent. Provisional admissions decisions are made by the Admissions Tutor of the Faculty of the major subject for which the student has applied. If English is not an applicant's native language, they will need to demonstrate proficiency in English in order to study at the College. For a list of equivalencies, please check here.

SPECIFIC ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Art History Major: None

Politics and IR Minor: None

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Where a student wishes to apply for the recognition of prior learning on the basis of certificated or experiential learning, they should follow the College's Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer Policy.

AIMS OF THE PROGRAMME

The aims of the major (Art History) part of the programme are to:

- Enable students to acquire and develop knowledge and an understanding of the cultural and historical role of works of art, architecture and design. The discipline educates students to look closely at art objects, to consider them in terms of their physical and aesthetic values, to interpret the visual or symbolic meaning within them, and to seek out and understand the historical and cultural contexts that produced them.

The aim of the minor (Politics and IR) part of the programme is to:

- Evaluate material critically and contribute to existing debates on topical issues relating to power delegation; power shifts and distribution; and the nature, evolution and operation of different political systems and their organizational structures.
- Apply a variety of methods to well-defined but complex problems and demonstrate an understanding of the origins of the international system and international political theory; the centrality of state and non-state actors; global public goods; and other related aspects of the discipline.

The overall aim of the programme is to:

- Provide a teaching and learning environment which achieves the above aims by enabling students to demonstrate the learning outcomes below.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

[Art History (AH); Politics and IR (PIR)]

KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING

A student will be able to:

- K1c (AH) Command a broad and comparative knowledge and understanding of aspects of the culture of more than one geographical region and/or chronological period, and a concentrated knowledge and understanding of one or more periods and places.
- K2c (AH) Engage with the concepts, values and debates that inform study and practice in the field of art history, including current research, and demonstrate an awareness of the limitations and partiality of all historical knowledge.
- K3c (AH) Show knowledge and understanding of the processes through which artefacts and buildings are designed and made in the cultures studied.
- K4c (PIR) Have a systematic understanding of theoretical models to existing debates.

SUBJECT SPECIFIC SKILLS

A student will be able to:

- S1c (AH) Record and describe art objects with clarity and precision, using ordinary and specialist language to produce well-structured and relevant arguments supported by visual, textual or other evidence as appropriate.
- S2c (AH) Set the artefacts studied within their appropriate historical, intellectual and cultural contexts.
- S3c (AH) Apply methods and techniques learnt for locating, assessing and interpreting primary and secondary sources and demonstrate the ability to discriminate between alternative arguments and approaches.
- S4c (PIR) Analyse the inter-relatedness of other disciplines and practices, crossing traditional subject boundaries.

TRANSFERABLE AND PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

A student will be able to:

- T1c (AH) Communicate information, arguments and ideas clearly and coherently in written and spoken form using appropriate visual aids and information technology resources.

- T4c (PIR) Critically evaluate to make judgements to identify a range of solutions.

All of the above learning outcomes are mapped to the relevant QAA Subject Benchmark threshold statements - see Appendix A. For the learning outcomes of exit awards, see Appendix B.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

The faculty make use of various teaching and learning strategies to provoke interest, knowledge and skills in the courses being delivered.

The delivery methods are:

- Tutorials (based on essays submitted by the student, with written and/or oral feedback on their progress)
- Seminars for small group discussion
- Lectures
- Study visits and handling sessions
- Consolidation and revision sessions
- Examinations and examiners' reports
- Independent study and research

The style of teaching at the College exposes students to lectures that capture their interest and excite their curiosity. These lectures are designed to allow interactivity and a short time of discussion and questioning (throughout or at the end of each lecture, as appropriate).

Tutorials and group seminar sessions enable unparalleled focus on the individual student, prompt and encourage independent reading and research, and facilitate lively, structured discussion. Students receive detailed feedback, written and/or verbal, on their formative assignments, and ideas and arguments are approached from new angles and in new contexts to enable the consolidation and review of material.

The programme is designed to progress steadily over three years and develop students' conceptual sophistication through cumulative experience and knowledge. The third-year dissertation course will allow students to develop their thinking in collaboration with a supervisor.

RESOURCES

The student experience and study is supported by the College's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), where students can preview and download course descriptors, lecture handouts, reading lists, supplementary materials as well as interact with the course teachers and peers. Coursework and summative tasks are also submitted via this platform.

Students have access to Northeastern University Library digital resources and online academic resources, such as JSTOR and the OED. Students at the College can apply for membership of Senate House Library, the British Library and the City of London libraries. Sample and/or past examination papers, as well as examiners' reports, are available to help students understand what is expected of them.

RESEARCH

Faculty aim to provide a lively, open, and interactive teaching environment, in which research and teaching are complementary. Faculty believe that teaching should be informed by the research of the staff member and so where possible teaching is allocated in line with the research interests and expertise of lecturers. Faculty also facilitate a wide range of academic and social events in which students and faculty are brought together, generating a collegial environment in which both staff and students can discuss their latest work.

Students are taught research skills in the following ways:

- a) At the beginning of the programme, students are inducted on the use of the Northeastern University online library and other electronic resources relevant to the programme.
- b) Students are provided with guidelines on how to research and write essays for Art History at Freshers' Inductions.
- c) Research skills are consistently addressed during the one-to-one tutorials that students receive through each year of their degree.
- d) Research skills particular to the writing of dissertations are taught in a special seminar workshop at the beginning of the final year of the degree.

ASSESSMENT REGULATIONS

The College's Assessment Regulations for Taught Awards can be found here.

STUDENT SUPPORT

DISABILITIES AND/OR SPECIFIC LEARNING DIFFICULTIES (SPLDS)

Students are strongly encouraged to inform the College of any medical conditions, disabilities, specific learning difficulties (SpLD) or neurological differences as soon as is practical. Students will be asked to submit supporting documentation from a doctor, clinical or educational psychologist detailing the nature of their disability and the impact it is likely to have on their studies in order to help us put in place appropriate support and accommodations. More information can be found in the Student Disability Policy here. This data is managed and securely stored by Student Support and Development (SSD). During Freshers' week, a number of talks and events are held which are designed to support and inform students with regard to mental health, disabilities, safety and learning support.

SSD meet with students as soon as possible, and preferably before the start of the academic year, to discuss their needs and draft a Learning Support Plan (LSP) which outlines the support to be provided both within the College (if appropriate) and externally. If requested by the student, the SDD will then arrange to inform relevant faculty of the student's needs and any reasonable adjustments required.

If a student is undiagnosed but believes they may have a SpLDS (e.g. Dyslexia) the SDD will help them to access diagnostic services. If the assessment confirms a SpLDS, the SDD will work the student in preparing a LSP and will provide advice about accessing additional funding and support through the Disabled Students Allowance, where a student may be eligible.

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS

The Art History programme develops all the skills associated with a degree in the Humanities, including communication and presentation skills, research and critical thinking.

However, studying Art History also provides students with the skills to interpret and connect to the visual world, enhancing their ability to analyse, question and engage critically with issues confronting society.

Further information is provided in the individual course descriptors.

CAREERS EDUCATION, INFORMATION AND GUIDANCE

College Careers Advisers help students to identify their career goals and create individual career plans. Students are actively encouraged to seek internships, with guidance given throughout the application process.

The College runs LAUNCH, which represents part of the NCH Diploma and has been designed in collaboration with a large number of experts from different types of industries. This has been designed to develop the attitudes, behaviours and capabilities that will prepare students for the world of work. It consists of two substantial projects, where students are required to work in teams to address real world assignments, and weekly seminars covering working in teams, marketing, writing and presenting, working in teams, and other transferable skills applicable to any professional activity.

QUALITY EVALUATION AND ENHANCEMENT

AWARD STANDARDS

Every programme of study is developed by the Faculties, utilising their subject specialists and approved by the College's Academic Board.

REVIEW AND EVALUATION MECHANISMS

The College has robust procedures, as described in AQF4 Programme and Course Approval and Modifications and AQF5 Annual Monitoring and Reporting, in place to assure the quality of the programme development, delivery, and management, alongside systematic monitoring, ongoing review and enhancement of all College programmes. Enhancements are made as necessary to ensure that systems remain effective and rigorous.

The College utilises constructive feedback from a variety of sources, internal and external, to inform its decision-making process to enhance the programme and the student experience. These feedback sources are:

- Annual Course Reviews, written by the Course Leader, are prepared to enable the Course Leader to reflect on the course, using a variety of data and student/faculty feedback to enhance the course and support the Head of Faculty in writing the Annual Faculty Review.
 - Annual Faculty Reviews, written by the Head of Faculty, are prepared in order to enhance individual programmes and to plan ahead.
 - Annual External Examiner Reports are prepared by independent External Examiners, as appointed by the College, to confirm that a programme has been assessed in accordance with the approved documentation and that the student performance meets the appropriate academic standards.
 - Formal student feedback mechanisms consist of course questionnaires, Student-Staff Liaison Committee and annual student satisfaction surveys, including external independent survey, such the National Student Survey.
 - Informal student feedback is also valued by the College and this can take the form of students talking to their tutors, Head of Faculty or professional staff. Students may also raise matters with their Personal Tutor.
