PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The study of Politics and International Relations comprises political theory, which examines normative questions, ideas, and ideology; political science, which examines the organisation of government and society; and international relations, which is specifically concerned with 'the international' and related problems of anarchy, security, economy, globalisation, and the conflictual and cooperative engagement between states. The programme, amongst other things, analyses the relationship between the individual and the state; the sources of political authority; and forms of governance with significant implications for policy making, policy choices, and policy outcomes. It fosters an understanding of agency through the study of power, justice, order, conflict, legitimacy, accountability, obligation, sovereignty, mediation, security, governance, and decision-making at different levels of governance (Benchmark Statement).

The Creative Writing Minor helps students embrace both the systematic and the creative sides of their intellectual endeavours. Both subjects invite the student to observe the world around them, to consider the conditions in which different kinds of people live, and to comment intelligently on those conditions. The methods in which the observation is carried out differ, but ultimately, both subjects' study different routes to happiness and satisfaction.

The first-year Creative Writing course, The Writer's Craft, covers the craft of writing creatively in three primary forms: short fiction, poetry and dramatic scripts. The second-year course, The Writer's Voice, builds upon your knowledge of the writer's craft through the study a fourth genre - creative nonfiction - and you will consider the relationships and interaction between genres. The third-year course, Final Year Project and Publishing Horizons, marks the culmination of your Creative Writing minor, and gives you the opportunity to work on a project of substantial length in a form of your choice.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

AGE

An applicant must normally be at least 17 years of age at the time of registration, and keeping in line with the College's policy, normally turn 18 before 31 December of that academic year.

GENERAL ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The College reviews application forms, grades, personal statements, references, and interview performance, before making offers of places in its programmes. A typical offer for undergraduate study is AAB at A-level, 35 points overall or 6,6,5 in Higher Level subjects (with an overall pass) in the IB Diploma, or the equivalent. Provisional admissions decisions are made by the Admissions Tutor of the Faculty of the major subject for which the student has applied. If English is not an applicant's native language, they will need to demonstrate proficiency in English in order to study at the College. For a list of equivalencies, please check here.

SPECIFIC ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Politics and IR Major: None

Creative Writing Minor: None

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Where a student wishes to apply for the recognition of prior learning on the basis of certificated or experiential learning, they should follow the College's Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer Policy.

AIMS OF THE PROGRAMME

The major (Politics and IR) part of the programme aims to:

- Collect and categorise ideas and information in a predictable and standard format by applying theories and methods of policy, institutional, and behavioural analysis.
- Analyse texts, evidence, and other literary texts, using guided approaches, techniques, and principles, in order to understand the centrality of human activity and discourse to political science, as well as the contribution of major schools of Western (but also non-Western) traditions of political thought.
- Evaluate material critically and contribute to existing debates on topical issues relating to power delegation; power shifts and distribution; and the nature, evolution and operation of different political systems and their organizational structures.
- Apply a variety of methods to well-defined but complex problems and demonstrate an understanding of the origins of the international system and international political theory; the centrality of state and non-state actors; global public goods; and other related aspects of the discipline.
- Manage information, collect appropriate material from a range of sources, and undertake research tasks to develop and promote critical thinking and analysis.

The aim of the minor (Creative Writing) part of the programme is to:

- Support students in the development of their own writing, and develop their confidence through a critical, technical and creative understanding of a wide range of genres, including the four core genres of poetry, prose fiction, script writing and creative nonfiction.
- Cultivate a systematic understanding of the creative process, including an awareness of the importance of reading, feedback, revision and editing practices to that process.
- Foster students' creative/artistic ambitions, and support them in achieving their aspirations, offering direction and advice where necessary, and developing an awareness of the path to publication and of professional standards.

The overall aim of the programme is to:

- Provide a teaching and learning environment which achieves the above aims by enabling students to demonstrate the learning outcomes below.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

[Politics and IR (PIR); Creative Writing (CW)]

KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING

A student will be able to:

- K1c (PIR) Relate theoretical models to existing debates in political science.
- K2c (PIR) Outline the development of key governing structures within their correct historical context.
- K3c (PIR) Understand the dynamic inter-relatedness between national governments and supranational institutions and structures, as well as a wealth of non-state actors.
- K4c (CW) Command knowledge of the technical requirements of writing creatively in a wide range of literary forms, and a developed understanding of the creative writing process.

SUBJECT SPECIFIC SKILLS

A student will be able to:

- S1c (PIR) Conduct detailed textual analysis from a variety of intellectual traditions.
- S2c (PIR) Critically analyse arguments and understand when and how these might be flawed or invalid.
- S3c (PIR) Cross traditional subject boundaries, examining the inter-relatedness of other disciplines and practices, and recognise philosophical doctrines in unfamiliar places.
- S4c (CW) Write creatively and confidently in a wide variety of literary forms, reflect critically upon their own creative process and practice, and identify a range of routes to dissemination of creative work.

TRANSFERABLE AND PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

A student will be able to:

- T1c (PIR) Show fluent and effective communication and discussion skills in a written and oral context.
- T2c (PIR) Handle ideas in rational, critical and evaluative ways; be open-minded and have a capacity for independent judgment.
- T3c (PIR) Manage own learning, including working effectively towards pre-set deadlines.

T4c (CW) Initiate and take responsibility for their own work, and to work flexibly, both independently and collaboratively.

All of the above learning outcomes are mapped to the relevant QAA Subject Benchmark threshold statements - see Appendix A for Politics and International Relations. For the learning outcomes of exit awards, see Appendix B.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

The faculty make use of various teaching and learning strategies to provoke interest, knowledge and skills in the courses being delivered.

The delivery methods are:

- Tutorials (based on essays submitted by the student, with written and/or oral feedback on their progress)
- Seminars for small group discussion
- Lectures
- Consolidation and revision sessions
- Creative writing workshops
- Examinations and examiners' reports
- Independent study and research

The style of teaching at the College exposes students to lectures that capture their interest and excite their curiosity. These lectures are designed to allow interactivity and a short time of discussion and questioning (throughout or at the end of each lecture, as appropriate).

Tutorials and group seminar sessions enable unparalleled focus on the individual student, prompt and encourage independent reading and research, and facilitate lively, structured discussion. Students receive detailed feedback, written and/or verbal, on their formative assignments, and ideas and arguments are approached from new angles and in new contexts to enable the consolidation and review of material.

The programme is designed to progress steadily over three years and develop students' conceptual sophistication through cumulative experience and knowledge. If taken, the third-year dissertation course will allow students to develop their thinking in collaboration with a supervisor.

RESOURCES

The student experience and study is supported by the College's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), where students can preview and download course descriptors, lecture handouts, reading lists, supplementary materials as well as interact with the course teachers and peers. Coursework and summative tasks are also submitted via this platform. Students have access to Northeastern University Library digital resources and online academic resources, such as JSTOR and the OED. Students at the College can apply for membership of Senate House Library, the British Library and the City of London libraries. Sample and/or past examination papers, as well as examiners' reports, are available to help students understand what is expected of them.

RESEARCH

Faculty aim to provide a lively, open, and interactive teaching environment, in which research and teaching are complementary. Faculty appreciate the breadth of knowledge that students must achieve, where the syllabus allows for it, teaching is allocated in line with research interests and expertise and faculty facilitate a wide range of academic and social events in which students and faculty are brought together.

Students are taught research and digital literacy skills in two main ways:

- a) At the beginning of the programme, students are inducted on the use of the Northeastern University online library and other electronic resources relevant to the programme.
- b) Once students have had some experience of writing essays, and have acquired the appetite to improve their research skills), first-year students receive Collegewide and subject-specific briefings on basic digital literacy and research skills. These briefings are given as lectures, and are reinforced by summary documentation made available on the VLE.[1]
- c) Following on from (b), students in their first year will undertake two pieces of coursework for NCHPIR408 Modern Political Thought (L4) with an emphasis on primary and secondary research. Students have the option to further build on their research and digital skills through coursework in their second year in courses, such as NCHPIR532 Political Ideologies, NCHPIR536 Societies in Transition, and NCHPIR531 Modern British Government and Politics (L5).
- d) Students in their third year have the option to write a NCHPIR6650 Politics Dissertation (L6) of no more than 8,000 words, whose research will be supervised by Faculty.

ASSESSMENT

Assessment in Politics and IR aims to examine:

- Knowledge and understanding of key problems and debates.
- Ability to reason rigorously, critically, creatively and autonomously.
- The student's knowledge and understanding of frameworks and theories.
- The student's ability to use his or her knowledge and understanding to produce new insights in the academic tradition, as well as other applications of said knowledge.

Assessment in Creative Writing aims to examine:

- The ability to write creatively in the four core genres of poetry, prose fiction, drama and creative nonfiction, and explore the relationships and interactions between these genres.
- Understanding of the creative process and the development of one's own writing practice.

Courses are assessed in a variety of ways, including:

FORMATIVE:

- Tutorial essays
- Tutorial drafts
- Oral presentations
- Group tutorial (seminar) performance (debates)
- Briefing papers, blogs
- Practice Examinations

SUMMATIVE:

- Written assignment

- Written examinations (unseen)
- Oral assignments and presentations
- Portfolio
- Dissertation

Appendix C contains the programme structure and assessment summary.

ASSESSMENT REGULATIONS

The College's Assessment Regulations for Taught Awards can be found here.

STUDENT SUPPORT

DISABILITIES AND/OR SPECIFIC LEARNING DIFFICULTIES (SPLDS)

Students are strongly encouraged to inform the College of any medical conditions, disabilities, specific learning difficulties (SpLD) or neurological differences as soon as is practical. Students will be asked to submit supporting documentation from a doctor, clinical or educational psychologist detailing the nature of their disability and the impact it is likely to have on their studies in order to help us put in place appropriate support and accommodations. More information can be found in the Student Disability Policy here. This data is managed and securely stored by Student Support and Development (SSD). During Freshers' week, a number of talks and events are held which are designed to support and inform students with regard to mental health, disabilities, safety and learning support.

SSD meet with students as soon as possible, and preferably before the start of the academic year, to discuss their needs and draft a Learning Support Plan (LSP) which outlines the support to be provided both within the College (if appropriate) and externally. If requested by the student, the SDD will then arrange to inform relevant faculty of the student's needs and any reasonable adjustments required.

If a student is undiagnosed but believes they may have a SpLDS (e.g. Dyslexia) the SDD will help them to access diagnostic services. If the assessment confirms a SpLDS, the SDD will work the student in preparing a LSP and will provide advice about accessing additional funding and support through the Disabled Students Allowance, where a student may be eligible.

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS

- Communication skills (written and oral)
- Analytical skills
- Reading skills
- Research skills
- Critical thinking skills
- Organisation and time-management

CAREERS EDUCATION, INFORMATION AND GUIDANCE

College Careers Advisers help students to identify their career goals and create individual career plans. Students are actively encouraged to seek internships, with guidance given throughout the application process.

The College runs LAUNCH, which represents part of the NCH Diploma and has been designed in collaboration with a large number of experts from different types of industries. This has been designed to develop the attitudes, behaviours and capabilities that will prepare students for the world of work. It consists of two substantial projects, where students are required to work in teams to address real world assignments, and weekly seminars covering working in teams, marketing, writing and presenting, working in teams, and other transferable skills applicable to any professional activity.

QUALITY EVALUATION AND ENHANCEMENT

AWARD STANDARDS

Every programme of study is developed by the Faculties, utilising their subject specialists and approved by the College's Academic Board.

REVIEW AND EVALUATION MECHANISMS

The College has robust procedures, as described in AQF4 Programme and Course Approval and Modifications and AQF5 Annual Monitoring and Reporting, in place to assure the quality of the programme development, delivery, and management, alongside systematic monitoring, ongoing review and enhancement of all College programmes. Enhancements are made as necessary to ensure that systems remain effective and rigorous.

The College utilises constructive feedback from a variety of sources, internal and external, to inform its decision-making process to enhance the programme and the student experience. These feedback sources are:

- Annual Course Reviews, written by the Course Leader, are prepared to enable the Course Leader to reflect on the course, using a variety of data and student/faculty feedback to enhance the course and support the Head of Faculty in writing the Annual Faculty Review.
- Annual Faculty Reviews, written by the Head of Faculty, are prepared in order to enhance individual programmes and to plan ahead.
- Annual External Examiner Reports are prepared by independent External Examiners, as appointed by the College, to confirm that a programme has been assessed in accordance with the approved documentation and that the student performance meets the appropriate academic standards.
- Formal student feedback mechanisms consist of course questionnaires, Student-Staff Liaison Committee and annual student satisfaction surveys, including external independent survey, such the National Student Survey.
- Informal student feedback is also valued by the College and this can take the form of students talking to their tutors, Head of Faculty or professional staff. Students may also raise matters with their Personal Tutor.

DISCLAIMER

The College has checked the information provided in this Programme Specification and will aim to deliver this programme in keeping with this Programme Specification. However, changes to the programme may sometimes be required arising from annual monitoring, student feedback, and the review and update of courses and programmes. Where this activity leads to significant changes to courses and programmes there will be prior consultation with students and others, wherever possible, and the College will take all reasonable steps to minimise disruption to students. It is also possible that the College may not be able to offer a course or programme for reasons outside of its control, for example, due to the absence of a member of staff or low student registration numbers. Where this is the case, the College will aim to inform applicants and students as soon as possible, and where appropriate, will facilitate the transfer of affected students to another suitable programme.
