The role

The New College of Humanities at Northeastern wishes to appoint an Assistant Professor in Modern Languages (French). The appointee will take on some course development duties as well as teaching and assessment responsibilities for a beginning-to-intermediate-level French language course.

We wish to appoint a specialist in French. Preference may be given to candidates with active interests in the relationship of modern languages to one or more of the following areas: software and/or technology and/or AI; employment contexts; education; diversity and inclusion.

Core duties will include:

- Teaching principally on a first-year introductory course on French to visiting students
- Providing French-language support when needed
- Marking, moderating and examining assessments
- Providing course development and review
- Enhancing the academic culture of the English Faculty

We particularly encourage applications from those with an interest in innovative teaching, learning and assessment; those with experience of supporting a wide variety of students; and those belonging to groups underrepresented in UK higher education. We are open to appointing on a reduced fraction/job-share basis subject to our business needs.

Department

The English Faculty at NCH is a growing Faculty. We deliver courses to major and minor students on the NCH 3-year degree programmes; courses combine the broad historical coverage of traditional English degrees with distinctive features reflecting the liberal arts tradition. At the same time, we deliver a wide range of courses on mobility programmes to visiting students, including the academic writing course First-Year Writing Studio, the interdisciplinary course Cultures of London, the experiential survey course British Drama and the London Stage, and from 2022, languages and linguistics.

About the College

Founded in 2012, New College of the Humanities has established itself as a prestigious higher education institution based in the heart of London. After becoming part of Northeastern University's global network in early 2019, the College has undergone a period of rapid growth, having been granted Taught Degree Awarding Powers in February 2020 and moved to a new, state-of-the-art campus in 2021. NCH continues to grow further expanding its student cohort, courses, network and opportunities.
